I absolutely love this forward thinking business and its founder, Merry Carole Powers! Branding Powers creates 21st Century Brands. By that I mean brands that make money for themselves AND make a difference in the world. Can you see why I love everything about this business? By infusing your brand with a second bottom line that supports a social cause or condition (Think TOMS shoes) via a proprietary, highly conscious process called Double Bottom Line Branding™, you can expect not only a beautiful brand image and presence that stands out and draws in ideal clients, but also a second bottom line in your business that will pump profit, passion and purpose into your business as well as your life. Now who wouldn't want that?
